MTD for practices: what changes operationally

Making Tax Digital for Income Tax changes Self Assessment from an annual production cycle into a recurring digital record, quarterly update and year-end finalisation workflow. For practices, the key risk is not only tax technical accuracy; it is capacity, data quality, client discipline and software control.

Practices can share the companion client guide with their own clients. The PDF contains editable firm details so the guide can carry your practice name and contact details before being sent out.

Client segmentation

Segment	Action for the practice	Operational risk
Over GBP50,000	Prepare for mandatory start from 6 April 2026.	High risk if records are annual or spreadsheet-only without bridging.
Over GBP30,000	Plan migration for 6 April 2027.	Client education and software transition need time.
Over GBP20,000	Build into 2028 capacity planning.	Lower-fee clients may create disproportionate quarterly workload.

The practice workflow

Authorisation and sign-up controls

HMRC guidance separates the agent services account from older online services for agents. Practices need to confirm authorisations before signing clients up and before relying on software access.

Control point	What the practice should check
Agent Services Account	The practice can access the MTD for Income Tax service and client details after authorisation.
Client authorisation	Existing Self Assessment authorisations may need to be added to the agent services account using the relevant agent codes.
Client permission	Get client approval before signing them up and before choosing or authorising software on their behalf.
Software authorisation	Compatible software must be authorised to communicate with HMRC for MTD for Income Tax.

Software routes practices can use

- Cloud bookkeeping software where clients already maintain digital records.
- Practice-led bookkeeping software where the firm maintains the ledger for the client.
- Spreadsheet plus compatible bridging software where appropriate and controlled.
- Tax production or practice management tools that support MTD filing workflows.
- A mixed model, with clear rules on which clients are client-maintained and which are firm-maintained.

Quarterly update process for teams

Quarterly updates are summaries sent through compatible software. HMRC guidance also explains that the updates are cumulative from the start of the tax year to the end of the update period. That means the firm needs a reliable recurring review process rather than a once-a-year correction exercise.

Stage	Team action	Client instruction
Month 1	Bank feeds, receipts, invoices and coding hygiene.	Upload records weekly or monthly.
Month 2	Resolve missing items and unusual transactions.	Answer queries quickly.
Month 3	Review cumulative update and obtain approval.	Approve before internal action date.
Deadline month	Submit before 7 August, 7 November, 7 February or 7 May.	Do not leave approvals to deadline week.

A practice should treat MTD as a recurring compliance product: client list, software route, monthly data hygiene, quarterly review, approval evidence and submission record.

How Sarmad Global supports practices

Sarmad Global can assist practices that need operational support, software workflow design or temporary technical capacity while MTD is implemented.

Practice need	Sarmad Global support
Messy client data	Specialist bookkeeping team to clean records, reconcile feeds and prepare data for quarterly updates.
Software uncertainty	Review of current software stack and practical route selection for ledger, bridging or practice systems.
Implementation capacity	Support for client segmentation, workflows, templates, task lists and team process design.
Practice development	Financial and accounting development team support for automation, reporting and practice operating model improvements.

Practice checklist

- Export a list of sole trader and landlord clients and segment by qualifying income.
- Check agent services account access and client authorisation position.
- Decide the software route for each affected client group.
- Issue client education material early and collect consent for sign-up.
- Set internal record collection dates before HMRC deadlines.
- Create a quarterly approval evidence process.
- Contact Sarmad Global where extra bookkeeping, MTD workflow or software implementation help is needed.
